Figure S11 Prediction accuracy $r_{II}$ (for populations represented in training set) for trait ear length in the interconnected biparental maize population. The points correspond to the replications of the cross-validation. The number of populations in the training set is $P$ and the average number of individuals per population is $N_p$. The number of markers used was 285.