

Figure S6. The patterns of the correlation slope (a) and the coefficient of determination R^2 values (b) for codon usages using simulated random sequences. (c) The usage frequency variation of amino acids in three groups along with the regional GC-content using simulated random sequences (Note that the curves of several amino acids are almost overlapped).